ABOUT

Kia ora, I'm Amandeep

Auckland-based mural artist creating feature walls, original canvases, portraits and custom artwork for spaces with personality.

With a background in architecture, I understand scale, proportion and how people experience a space. That means I can collaborate with designers, read drawings and shape artwork around an interior—not simply add decoration afterwards.

Every project starts with your story, your space and the people who use it. Together, we can create something memorable and uniquely yours.

APPROACH

Designed for the space. Made to tell a story.

01

Understand the space

I consider scale, sightlines, colour and the wider interior before developing the artwork.

02

Find its story

Your brand, community and atmosphere shape the concept—not a one-size-fits-all design.

03

Make it memorable

A tailored mural can become a focal point people connect with and remember.

HOSPITALITY

Cafés, bars, restaurants & lounges

HOW I WORK

A clear process, from concept to wall

Clean, scaled artwork starts on screen

1

Visual concepts before painting

I can create a digital mockup on a photo of your wall, helping you visualise the idea before approval.

2

Designed to fit your space

I can work from dimensions, plans and elevations to scale artwork to the actual wall.

3

Collaborative approvals

We agree on the concept, scope and timing together, with revisions arranged before painting.

4

Careful on-site execution

I translate the approved artwork onto the wall with attention to placement, finish and detail.
